

The most quintessential thing in any piece of work is the passion put into it. The quality of the work is often reflected by the passion and desire to improve that gets put into making it. As a 2D animator/illustrator, my main goal is not only to constantly and endlessly improve my work, but to inspire others to follow suit.